To

STERLING L. WILLIAMS

Our Loyal Friend and Teacher

We the Class of Nineteen Hundred Fifty

Affectionately Dedicate this Book

Mr. Williams, soon to retire from his position as adviser of the yearbook, has served the Newtonian faithfully for 22 years. His editors-in-chief will long remember his never-ending patience and sound advice. All have felt that working with him has been an invaluable experience.

Pictured on the next page, all the past editors, one now a college president, another the vice-president of a radio network, still another an author, all outstanding citizens, join the 1950 staff in this tribute to Mr. Williams.

Alpha Beta

President . . . . . Marianna Murphy
Vice-President . . . . . Ben Greene
Secretary . . . . . Agnes Dowhanczuk
Treasurer . . . . . JoAnn Marcus
Adviser . . . . . Mr. Trumbell L. Simmons

Alpha Beta is the sophomore club which gives students a chance to try to perfect their abilities in the fields of writing and drama.

The monthly meetings of this miniature Tusitala or English Club were highlighted by critical discussions of the members' masterpieces of creative writing, the dramatization of a one-act play, and several readings. The members of Alpha Beta enjoyed an entertaining and educational year and are looking forward to more of the same in Tusitala and the English Club next fall.

Alpha Gamma Tau

President . . . . . Philip Drew
Vice-President . . . Robert Woodbury
Secretary . . . Benjamin Muckenhaupt
Treasurer . . . . . William Patten
Adviser . . . . Miss Frances L Mendell

In 1949–1950 Newton High School had a group of people banded together in a club which defied the students' age-old dislike and fear of mathematics. These people met for the sole purpose of experimenting and playing with numbers, from simple arithmetic to calculus. In pursuit of their hobby, the members took a trip to Babson's Institute in Wellesley and to the calculating machine at Harvard. At one meeting Mr. Charles Mergandahl gave an interesting and informative talk. Mathematics offered both an invitation to fun and entertainment and a means of becoming more proficient in the science of numbers to members.

1950

Anti-Smoking

Chairman . . . . . Prescott Clark
Adviser . . . . Mr. Charles S. Peltier

The Anti-Smoking Committee this year had one of the largest groups of applicants in its short history. Forty-eight members were chosen out of the two hundred seventy-five who applied. It was the job of these forty-eight to cope with one cause of school fires — students' smoking in the school buildings. The members were given special cards enabling them to leave any class in order to go to places in the school where there was the possibility of smoking occurring and have done much toward maintaining a safe school for the pupils and teachers.

1950

Art Club

President . . . . . Nancy Dillon
Vice-President . . . . . Alberta Bean
Secretary . . . . . Anne Walker
Treasurer . . . . . Carol Duris
Adviser . . . . Miss Helen C. Miles

The qualifications for an Art Club member were an interest and appreciation, if not an ability, in art; an enjoyment of good company and good times; and a pair of sturdy legs to carry him up the three flights of stairs to the art rooms. The Art Club, you see, was on a much higher plane than the other clubs — three flights higher than some and at least one flight higher than the others!

The year's activities were dedicated to the service of the school — such projects as poster-making and other forms of advertising school affairs. The club also entertained guests, had slides, and displayed the members' masterpieces.

The Art Club's only enemy was that monster, Lack-of-Time! (Or maybe Lack-of-Elevators)

1950

Aviation Club

Adviser . . . . . Mr. Russell Fitz

The impressive buzzing and zooming noises which were sometimes heard on the athletic field were actually just what they sounded like — miniature jet and gas-propelled aircraft being displayed by their owners, members of Newton High School's Aviation Club. These model-meets gave future aeronautical experts a chance to exhibit their handiwork, and were the results of many hours of careful planning and construction. The club planned trips to Bedford Airport during the spring and fall and filled winter meetings with lectures, instruction, and movies on such subjects as aerodynamics and aeronautics. Throughout the year, however, members worked with one goal in mind — the opportunity to take actual flying lessons, a fitting climax to an interesting and profitable year.

1950

Camera Club

President . . . . . Barbara McAloon
Vice-President . . . . . Leonard Barber
Secretary . . . . . Alice Campbell
Treasurer . . . . . Frank Sieve
Adviser . . . . . Mr. Sterling Williams

In the twenty-two years that the Camera Club has been in existence, it has grown to a membership of one hundred. The club was opened to both skilled and unskilled enthusiasts, and an interesting program was planned for each meeting. Visiting a local studio, taking pictures of amateur models, learning the mechanics of a camera, and developing pictures were among the monthly activities. Club members also entered the National High School Contest in which generous prizes were awarded.

1950

Cavalry Club

President . . . . . Aldyth Haney
Vice-President . . . . . Rose Cesareo
Secretary . . . . . Jean Sloan
Treasurer . . . . . Joseph Savignano
Program Chairman . . . . . Judith Berry
Adviser . . . . . Mr. John Sherman

Giddy-up!

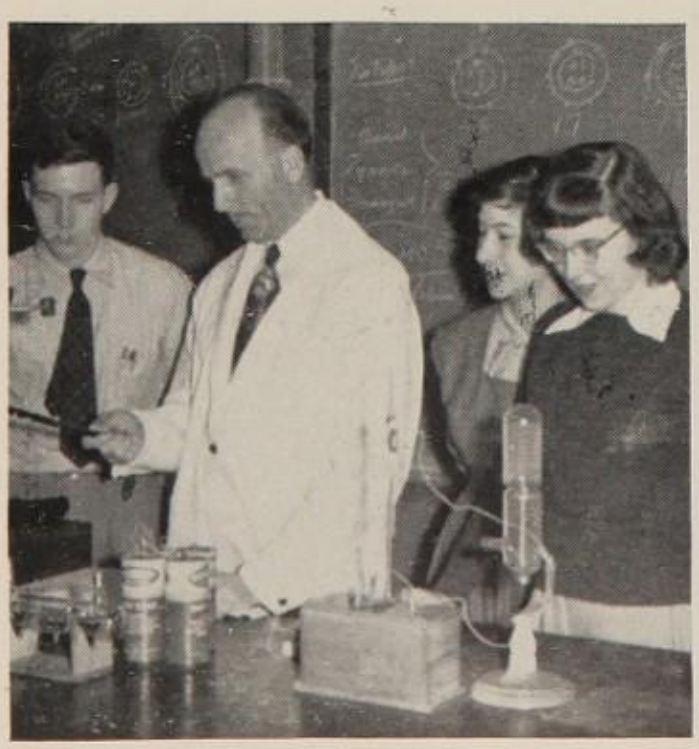
Contrary to the terms used in the Math or Latin Clubs, such as πr^2 or amo, amas, amat, the Cavalry Club used phrases like — Watch that bay's off fore pastern, will you? and — Hey! this bull-headed horse is jibbering on me!

Once the new members were admitted to the club, come rain, sleet, or snow, there was always a ride for those who wanted to go. Movies and speakers were also offered. Then, as a thrilling conclusion to all the club's activities for this year there was a super, all-day outing.

1959

Chemistry Club

President . . . . . Robert Woodbury
Vice-President . . . . . Edward Cass
Secretary . . . . . Richard Millard
Treasurer . . . . . Richard Losch
Adviser . . . . . Mr. J. C. Hall



Its members admitted only by competitive examination, the Chemistry Club consists of a hand-picked group of students who are interested in chemistry. Again this year the members enjoyed the usual series of informative lectures and interesting experiments. The meetings were conducted by the members themselves, in groups of five, each of which had charge of a program and demonstration. A number of interesting field trips provided the highlights of the season's events. Climaxing an eventful season was the annual Science Fair to which the Chemistry Club contributed an interesting and well-received exhibit. These boys and girls are the chemists of tomorrow, who someday may be developing products and methods for better living.

1950

Debating Club

President . . . . . William Graves
Vice-President . . . . . Hart Peterson
Secretary . . . . . Joyce Finnin
Treasurer . . . . . Jack Wighton
Adviser . . . . Mr. Malcolm Gallagher

"Eloquence is logic on fire" aptly describes the spirit of this club's lively, informal debates. Though facts for the "logic" of the argument were not always so carefully culled, there certainly was "fire" when four debaters took sides on a subject. Following the debate other club members had an opportunity to ask questions and air their opinions. After good debates the enthusiasm was really catching, and the moderator had hard times keeping the discussion under control. Since debates were usually on current issues, members were provided with a fine way to keep posted as well as to improve their public speaking.

1950

English Club

President . . . . . Joan Painton
Vice-President . . . . . Alberta Bean
Secretary . . . . . Phyllis Rice
Treasurer . . . . . Eleanor Seliber
Program Chairman . . . . Helen Brooks
Adviser . . . . . Miss Irene Haworth

The English Club, the oldest and one of the largest clubs in Newton High, sought to reflect the pleasure which can be obtained from English by junior and senior members. Readings, movies, well-known speakers, and symposiums on writing were among the activities of the year. A winter excursion to see a popular modern play proved a memorable event, while the most outstanding feature was the club's spring pilgrimage to Concord, Massachusetts. Varied programs such as these exhibited the educational and enjoyable activities of the English Club.

1950

El Club Español

President . . . . . Thomas Kelley
Vice-President . . . . . Kenneth Morse
Secretary . . . . . Helen Angino
Treasurer . . . . . Virginia Hanson
Adviser . . . . Mr. Francesco Argento

This is the club where lovers of Spanish gathered once a month to practice their Spanish conversation, learn more about Spanish countries and customs, and in general have a rousing good time. Each meeting was conducted entirely in Spanish, even to the reading of the secretary's report. The members enjoyed Spanish speakers, Spanish games, Spanish movies, and a play presented and acted entirely in Spanish. The year ended up with the annual "fiesta" in which "los muchachos y las muchachos" of the club ate, drank, and made merry to their Spanish utmost.

1950

French Club

President . . . . . Lucie Adam
Vice-President . . . . . Jean Rambeau
Secretary . . . . . Barbara Wellman
Treasurer . . . . . Joyce Finnin
Adviser . . . . . Miss Mary Waters

The French Club catered to those with an interest in modern language which extended beyond the class-room. Here French was not a study, but a hobby. French Club members took special pride in speaking (or trying to speak) conversational French.

Frequent guest speakers were entertained, and the members undertook many projects pertinent to French culture. Special trips and parties were planned as the occasion arose. The purpose of this busy group was to bring France a little closer to America.

1950

Future Teachers

President . . . . . Carol Nee
Vice-President . . . . Kenneth Morse
Secretary . . . . . Anne Bronstein
Treasurer . . . . . Richard Buchanan
Adviser . . . . . Miss Florence Bates

The Future Teachers of America has provided a valuable opportunity for students who someday hope to be carrying on the tradition of American educators. This organization is affiliated with the National Education Association and is sponsored by the Newton Federation of Teachers. During the year, members helped in social settlement houses and visited certain Newton schools. Other activities in their program included discussions with Mr. Harold Gores and Mr. Raymond Green, as well as with other members of the Administrative Staff, and a meeting as guests of the Boston University chapter of the Future Teachers of America.

1950

International Club

President . . . . . Daniel Barbo
Vice-President . . . Cynthia Thompson
Secretary . . . . . Nancy Rhodes
Treasurer . . . . . Sylvia Bond
Adviser . . . . . Mr. Robert S. Harris

How many of us are acquainted with the current problems of the day? The International Club has provided students with an opportunity to keep up to date on the news. Its sole purpose was for the benefit of those who were interested in learning more about the trying situations with which we are faced today. The club was by no means staid. Stimulating panel discussions by the members, interviews with eminent speakers, and visits to important institutions were among the monthly activities. Such a club has proved to be not only educational but full of fun as well.

1950

Laeti Latini

President . . . . . Henry Riley
Vice-President . . . . . Barbara Kress
Secretary . . . . . Patricia Pak
Treasurer . . . . . Dorothy Maloney
Program Chairman . . . . . Harold Shay
Adviser . . . . . Miss Elizabeth Jewett

This year the members of Laeti Latini undertook to make their study of Latin a thoroughly worthwhile and interesting experience. They accomplished this by means of entertaining slides, talks concerning ancient Rome and its customs, and parties carried on in the true, lounging style of the old Roman dinners. The club was again privileged to entertain Dr. George Land, who showed some slides and spoke on Roman Communications. The social meeting of the year was at Christmas time, when members enjoyed refreshments, charades, and various Latin games.

1959

Girls' Leader Corps

President . . . . . Ellen Kattwinkel
Vice-President . . . . . Virginia Hatton
Secretary . . . . . June Owen
Treasurer . . . . . Elizabeth Murphy
Adviser . . . . . Miss Joyce Tyson

Rallies! Girls' Athletic Banquet! Gym Demonstration! The success of all these activities was due to the Girls' Leader Corps. The members of this energetic, limited group were chosen for character, cooperation, responsibility, and leadership in classes. They participated in the annual Girls' Assembly and the Gym Demonstration, and part of the program for the State Physical Education Convention. The greatest achievement of the year was the Girls' Athletic Banquet, which proved most enjoyable to the girls, parents, and faculty. But as well as work, a ski trip, a dinner party, a beach party, and other excursions were part of the program.

1950

Library Club

President . . . Betty Ann McCormick
Vice-President . . . . . Herman Rose
Secretary . . . . . Sonya Coleron
Treasurer . . . . . Beverly Schade
Adviser . . . . . Miss Elvajean Hall

The Library Club members donated two hours of work weekly in the teachers' professional library, in the junior college library, in the sample textbook library, and in their own high school library as part of the club program. Their work included running errands, acting as messengers, stamping, pocketing, and putting away books, and working at magazine upkeep.

Of course there were good times, too. Each year the club takes a trip. This year's jaunt was to see the Christian Science Monitor in operation. The members also had a giant Christmas party, and they decorated the trees in the school libraries.

1950

Meteorology Club

President . . . . . Bruce Stewart
Secretary . . . . . Marrian Geer
Adviser . . . Mr. Donald K. Davidson

The Meteorology Club, becoming increasingly popular since its establishment in 1947, takes pride in its own fully equipped weather station atop Building II, from which it records a complete daily weather report for this area. The members' chief activity consisted of compiling these reports in a manner similar to that of the weathermen in leading weather stations. Other activities highlighting the season included trips to the U. S. Army Air Force weather station at Bedford Airport and to the Harvard Observatory in the Blue Hills. To round out another successful year, the club also enjoyed motion pictures on weather and its effects on flying.

1950

National Honor Society

President . . . . . Robert Bean
Vice-President . . . . Frederick Ferré
Secretary . . . . . Norma Solimene
Treasurer . . . . . David Kaye
Adviser . . . . Miss Edith B. Rideout

1950

Outing Club

President . . . . . Beverly Moss
Vice-President . . . . . Anita Morse
Secretary . . . . . Martha Norcross
Treasurer . . . . . Betty Murphy
Adviser . . . . Mrs. Janet McLaughlin

For all girls who are interested in action, the Outing Club is the answer. Some of the activities of this energetic group included hiking, bowling, skiing, ice-skating, and horseback riding. This club is one of the most enthusiastic groups in the school and its only requirement for membership is a willingness to participate in its numerous activities. A feature of the club was the three big outings it held during the past fall, winter, and spring.

1950

Personality Club

President . . . . . Helen Angino
Vice-President . . . Marie Cancellieri
Secretary . . . . . Doris Frediani
Treasurer . . . . . Ann Meiklejohn
Adviser . . . . . Miss Clara Ashley

Want to up your P.Q. (personality quotient) rating, girls? Here is a club that teaches you to mind your P's and Q's! This year the club program began with a self-checkup by every member, so that each would discover her particular weaknesses. The girls saw a movie on etiquette and heard a speaker's suggestions on good grooming. Rather than just talk about entertaining properly, the club practiced it by having a party in the Social Room. Since many members left on approved work in the spring, the club threw its windup shindig in April — a theatre and dinner party!

1950

Projectors

Adviser . . . . Mr. Michael Gradone

A ray of light cuts the blackness of your classroom, reflected images begin to move on the screen before your eyes, and you settle back in your seat to enjoy another moving picture. Some call them "flickers," others call them movies, but here at N.H.S., the boys on the Projector Squad call them "audio-visual aids through the medium of the sound motion picture." No matter how you say it, these boys have made a great contribution to you and to the school by relinquishing many of their free hours and study halls to show slides and movies for your education and enjoyment. For these fellows we have but one word — "Thanks!"

1950

Radio Club

President . . . . . Philip Drew
Vice-President . . . . . Peter Hobbs
Secretary . . . . . Lincoln Cummings
Treasurer . . . . . Richard Millard
Adviser . . . . . Mr. George Batt

Although a small group, the members of the Radio Club continued to gather every other week for the purpose of making, repairing, and learning more about radios. In addition to regular meetings, the members also spent many extra hours throughout the year continuing and completing many various projects. Performing an invaluable service to the school and to themselves, they worked also with electricity and many of its uses, an outstanding contribution of the club being work on a public address system for the auditorium. For those of you to whom the Radio Club is just another name, do not be alarmed if and when these boys come out with some surprising new development in the field of radio.

1950

Rally Committee

General Chairman . . . Grace Marchant
Hockey Chairman . . . . Sally Amidon
Basketball Chairman . . . Diane Toppan
Baseball Chairman . . . Elaine DeWolf
Adviser . . . . . Miss Joyce Tyson

Everyone knows that school spirit needs rallying, and the Rally Committee of over one hundred girls ably did the job.

In addition to the traditional football rallies, the newly organized committee instituted the first hockey, basketball, and baseball rallies. All this meant that four times as much was accomplished in this past year as was ever before. Pageants, posters, rhymes on the blackboards, and notices on the bulletins are also products of the spirited hundred.

Pursuing that elusive necessity, spirit, was more than a part-time job for the members, but satisfaction and fun were the rewards for the ralliers' job-well-done.

1950

Science Club

President . . . . . Joseph Onate
Vice-President . . . . . Nason Lightman
Secretary . . . . . Sylvia Zotto
Treasurer . . . . . Joanne Holland
Advisers . . { Miss Alice J. Kennedy
Miss Moira Sullivan

This year's Science Club included both those interested in physical science and those interested in life science. The Science Clubs of several schools, including Watertown and Brookline, were hosts to the Newton club during the year, and the club was also visited by other towns. Films, speakers, even records of animals' voices were featured at the monthly meetings. Several field trips, one to the Children's Museum in Boston, were enjoyed. The highlight of the year's activities was the sponsorship of the annual Science Fair which was open to the entire school.

1950

Social Room

Social Board { Margaret DePopolo, Chairman
Marcia Egan
David Starkweather

Adviser . . . . Miss Margaret South

This year the Social Room was the scene of many a fast game of I Doubt It and slapjack, as well as being a welcome place of rest for many weary souls and bodies. Open every morning from 8:10 to 8:25, the room provided an excellent chance for last-minute relaxation before the beginning of another school day. Magazines, records, and the radio were available for everyone's use. The room was also opened Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons; Mondays and Thursdays were reserved for club and committee meetings. The student hosts and hostesses, carefully selected by the Social Board, are to be congratulated for helping greatly to make the Social Room one of Newton High's bright spots.

1950

Speakers' Bureau

Adviser . . . . Mr. Harry V. Anderson

"That was lousy!" . . . This is the battle cry of the Speakers' Bureau in action. During the year the specially selected members of the Bureau were given the opportunity to speak at clubs, P.T.A. meetings, and village solicitor meetings for the Red Cross, Community Chest, and Zimbler Sinfonietta. Each member wrote his own speeches with the help of the adviser and delivered them to the group for constructive criticism before actually speaking in public. These students were given other chances to speak in school assemblies, and a few entered contests. The members of the Speakers' Bureau feel that they have gained valuable speaking experiences and have helped many worthy organizations.

1950

Tusitala

President . . . . . Jean Lipman
Vice-President . . . . . Ina Friedman
Secretary . . . . . Daniel Tritter
Treasurer . . . . . Ellen Kattwinkel
Adviser . . . . Mr. T. Jerome Cutting

Newton High School has a club for those who feel Friend Literary Genius' rub. Tusitala is the name of this step on your road to fame. Once a month the meetings are; then members come from near and far and journey to the Thurber Room to weave the literary loom. There manuscripts are proudly read and thoughtful phrases slowly said to criticize a work of art or praise its most exciting part. T. J. Cutting runs this gang of souls who feel the author's pang or playwright's inspiration fine or poet's urge to write a line. The word that's Tusitala's key is individuality! . . .

1950

Workshop in Leadership and Community Life

Advisers . . . . Mr. Larry Anderson
Miss Edith Rideout

Twenty-one seniors and five juniors were chosen as members of the Workshop in Leadership and Community Life. Their main project in 1949–1950 was an exchange visit with Frederick, Maryland. Before making the trip during the April vacation, each member made a study of some phase of life in New England and in Maryland, and took part in money-raising projects. The purpose of the Workshop was to acquaint its members with different ways of life in various parts of the country and to help create a better understanding among the people of America.

PUBLICATIONS

The Literary Magazine

Adviser . . . Mr. M. Roland Heintzelman

The Literary Magazine, a publication sponsored by the English Department, is now in its fourth year of existence. This year, along with its annual publication which represented written work from all classes and curricula, the staff also edited a masterpiece of children's stories entitlled Clarence. This little book proved to be a huge success and was soon adopted in the Newton Grammer Schools as a required reader. The staff and the many other contributing pupils have worked hard on this publication and hope that The Literary Magazine will soon take a prominent place in Newton High.

1950

Newtonian Staff

Editor-in-Chief . . . . Norma Solimene
Assistant Editor . . . . . Milo Clark
Adviser . . . . Mr. Sterling L. Williams

The staff of the yearbook was a group chosen as representative of you, the student body. For the finest thing about the Newtonian is that it isn't the editors' book or the staff's book, it's 1950's book and your book, portraying the best of this past year and of Newton High through the years.

We staff members and editors worked hard, as do the participants in any major production at Newton High, in order to do our best possible job. Every page of the Newtonian expresses, it is hoped, a little of the enthusiasm and zeal we felt.

1950

Newtonite Staff

Adviser . . . . . Mr. Harry L. Walen

In 144 the staff is scribbling last minute stories of just-happened events; copy readers are recounting words, correcting errors, and desperately searching for headline writers. Next door in 146 editors feverishly slash long stories to make room for short ones and try to decide the pressing questions: Which stories shall lead the front page? Is it more important to print the article on Miss———'s trip to Oshkosh, or can't we omit Club Notes?

What's all the rush? The journalism class, which meets twice a week, is merely meeting the printer's deadline so that you get your Newtonite on time!

Newtonite Ad Staff

Advertising Directors . { Bruno Visco / William Graves

Adviser . . . . . Miss Virginia Altieri

The success of the Newtonite could very well be said to have depended upon the success of the Newtonite advertising staff, for it was this hardworking organization that sold the advertising space by which a large part of the cost of printing the newspaper was paid. Members of this organization gained valuable experience in advertising and salesmanship in their efforts to sell space to various merchants of the Newtons. This staff performed an extremely valuable and highly important service for the school and it to be commended for its superior efforts in supporting our school newspaper, the Newtonite.

Orange Book

Editor-in-Chief . . . . . Prescott Clark
Adviser . . . . . Miss Clara Ashley

This year's staff of the Orange Book prepared a manual containing everything about anything in the high school. Some of the staff members worked during the summer in order that the book might be ready at the opening of school. Many thankful sophomores had the bewilderment and confusion of the first school days greatly lessened by the Orange Book, which contained write-ups of all clubs, a copy of the charter of the Associates, N. H. S. cheers and songs, information concerning scholarships and National Honor Society, lists of teachers and their home rooms, etc. The book was a life-saver to all newcomers, whether they were green sophomores, shy pupils from another town, or slightly confused new teachers.

Girls' Choruses

JUNIOR–SENIOR GIRLS' CHORUS

Adviser . . . . . Mr. Henry Lasker

The ability to carry a tune and a love for music were the requirements for the Junior-Senior Girls' Chorus. This year there was an enrollment of over 170 girls, and, due to limited space, it was necessary to break up the Chorus into three groups. The repertoire consisted of serious and semi-classical music in three-part arrangements, as well as popular songs. A few with outstanding voices had the opportunity of doing solo work. This year the Chorus contributed to the Christmas Vesper service by singing carols before the performance and making a Yuletide atmosphere.

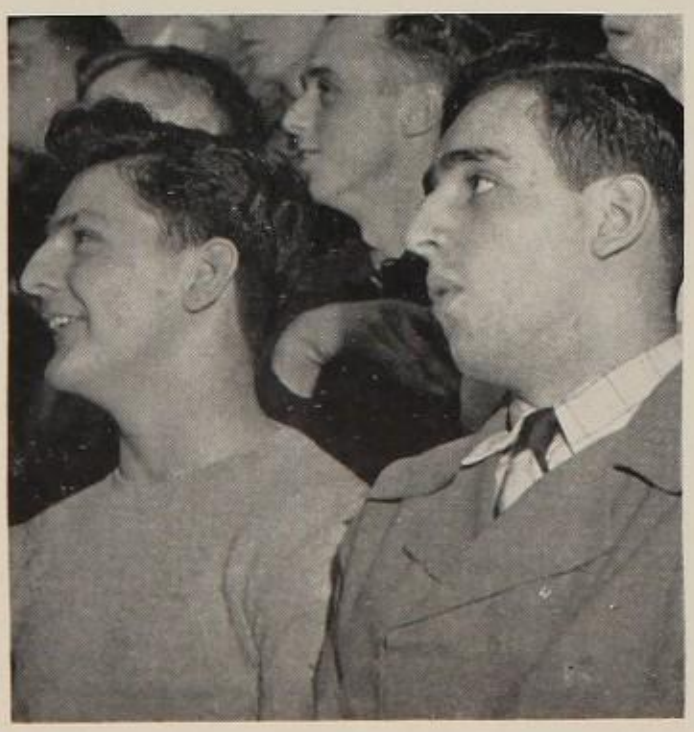
Adviser . . . . . Mr. Henry Lasker

This year, for the first time in the history of the school, the Sophomore Girls' Chorus had an enrollment of over 150 girls. Such a large number proves that this organization is one of the increasingly popular groups at Newton High. The only requirements were a desire to learn about group singing and the ability to carry a tune. As is customary, the girls paraded through Building I the day before Christmas vacation singing Christmas carols, and they participated in the Memorial Day Assembly exercises. Experience in this group helps considerably toward future work with the Junior-Senior Girls' Chorus.

1950

Boys' Chorus

Adviser . . . . . Mr. Wesley Merritt



A rapidly growing organization, the Boys' Chorus has acquired recently a membership of approximately 110 people. Members need not have had any previous singing experience, nor is there any requirement other than a love for singing and a willingness to work and to cooperate with the rest of the chorus. Each boy, however, was asked at some time to sing a solo and all were required to sing in a quartet. The group rehearsed a large number of selections ranging from the classical to the popular and has made a number of recordings.

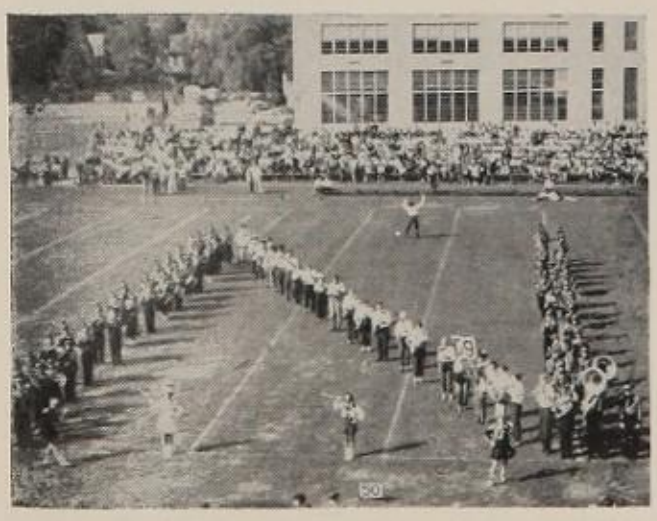
Band

President . . . . . Dean Farnum
Secretary Manager . . . . Dana Cheyne
Librarian . . . . . David Young
Adviser . . . . . Mr. Wesley Merritt

The band this year worked hard on a military type organization. Their persistent work showed results in the splendid marching at games and parades. The band played not only for football games but also for basketball, hockey, and baseball games, and for the high school and trade school assemblies. A few of the football skits were, "Alumni Skit" with twenty-five alumni members, "Four Roses in Melrose," "Come to the Fair," "Maggie Comes to Newton," and a "Show Extravaganza" for Thanksgiving.



1950

Neophytes

President . . . . . Beverly Johnson
Vice-President . . . . . Martha Ellis
Secretary . . . . . Sandra MacDougall
Treasurer . . . . . Winslow Weeks
Adviser . . . . . Miss Ann Sanguinetti

As always, this club was solely for sophomores and catered especially to those students interested in any kind of drama. During the year, the club put on a play which was presented at a sophomore assembly. Skits, readings, pantomimes, one-act plays, and stories and games were featured at the monthly meetings. In addition to having fun, the members gained much knowledge of the theater world. Perhaps we shall be applauding some of these "Neophytes" on Broadway in ten or fifteen years.

1950

Senior Play

A wise selection, a well chosen cast, and a large appreciative audience combined to make a very successful production of this year's senior play, Our Hearts Were Young And Gay. The story centers about two naive midwestern college girls, played by Virginia Stewart and Virginia Rost, and their side-splitting capers on a trip to Europe. They contend with everything from icebergs and stowaways to measles and bedbugs — not to mention their respective romances with two Harvard medical students. Besides the girls' galivantings, comic characters and bizarre 1920 costumes added to the play's humor. The seventeen roles gave many seniors a chance to prove the talent of the class of '50.

Drama Workshop

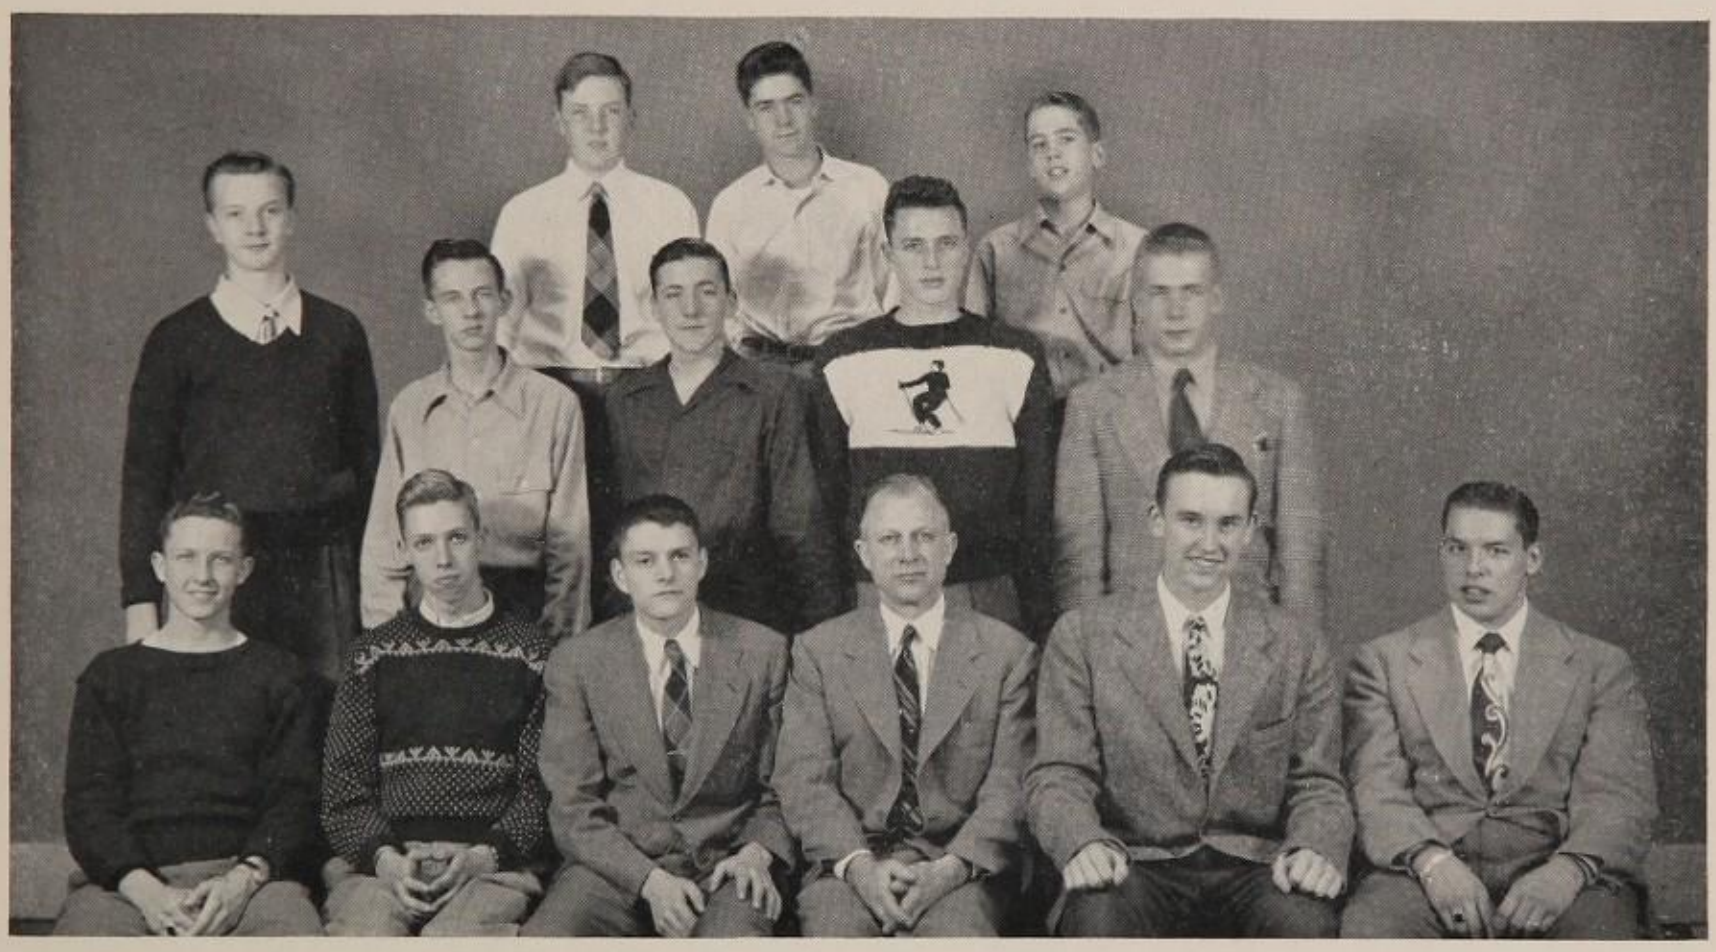
Advisers . . . . { Mr. John Gray
Mr. C. E. Chase

The Drama Workshop was another proof that boys can't get along without the girls. After school you could always find this group making good use of paints, hammers, and nails as they assisted in the backstage preparation of scenery and props. They have learned from various professionals, the arts of make-up, lighting, sound effects, and scenery. Each girl had a chance, if she wished, to specialize in one type of backstage art. If it's make-up, she had a chance to watch the professionals work at some of our own productions and assist in others. No matter what type of backstage work it is, the girls can do it.

1950

Stage Crew

Adivser . . . . . Mr. Charles Chase



Who made and put up the scenery? Who controlled the lights? Who pulled the curtains? Who made the sound effects? Who lugged the furniture? Who set up the P.A. system? And who did a hundred other large and small jobs that were necessary to stage the plays or to put on the assemblies and rallies? The Stage Crew did all these things and many more, too! These fellows who volunteered their time and energy receive little recognition for their long labors, and their only pay is their satisfaction and pride in a job well done.

NEW CLUBS

With the many new clubs Newton High now boasts it has found a place for three additional clubs which this year have grown into large, active organizations. They have proved to be a valuable asset to our school.

The Orchesis Club is a new, growing, and active club. The purpose is to cultivate interest in all types of "the dance." The modern dance section is divided into three groups, according to the student's ability, and each section has its own place in the group as a whole. Members have taken part this year in such activities as the Spring Musical, football games, a junior high demonstration, and a college dance symposium. They have attended lectures, concerts, theatre parties, and motion pictures, all of which have helped them in their studies of dance technique.

If there's a fish in the sea or a crow in the sky this summer, their lives aren't worth a plug nickel, for fifty-two hunting and fishing enthusiasts are out to practice what they learned this year at their lively club meetings. Movies were shown on fishing and the safe use of firearms; a demonstration of plug and fly casting was a logical follow-up to an exhibition of fly-tying by a well-known expert. As a grand finale to a fine year the members went on two successful fishing trips to nearby trout streams.

The half-a-hundred sharpshooting members of the Rifle Club started their monthly target practice at the West Newton Armory shooting range. With the five target rifles, which it obtained from the government, the club shot its way through several indoor meets and a few outdoor meets in the spring. They were also invited to the Sharon Rod and Gun Club. The members had to pay for the use of the Armory and for ammunition, but they all agreed that the fun and training were well worth the small fee.

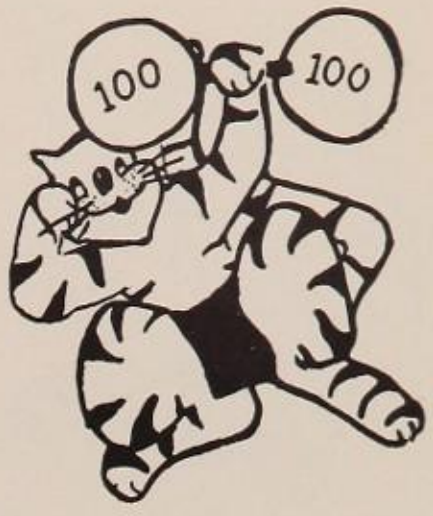
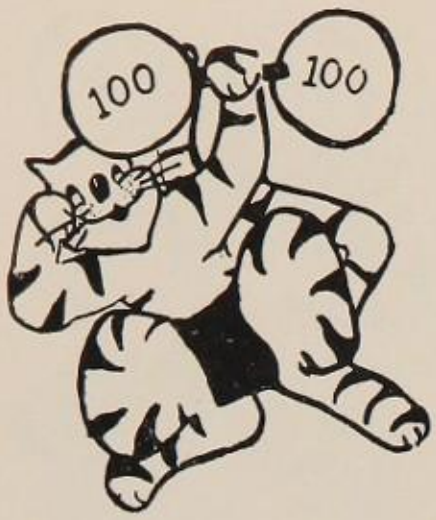
1950

Football



Coach . . . . . Warren Huston

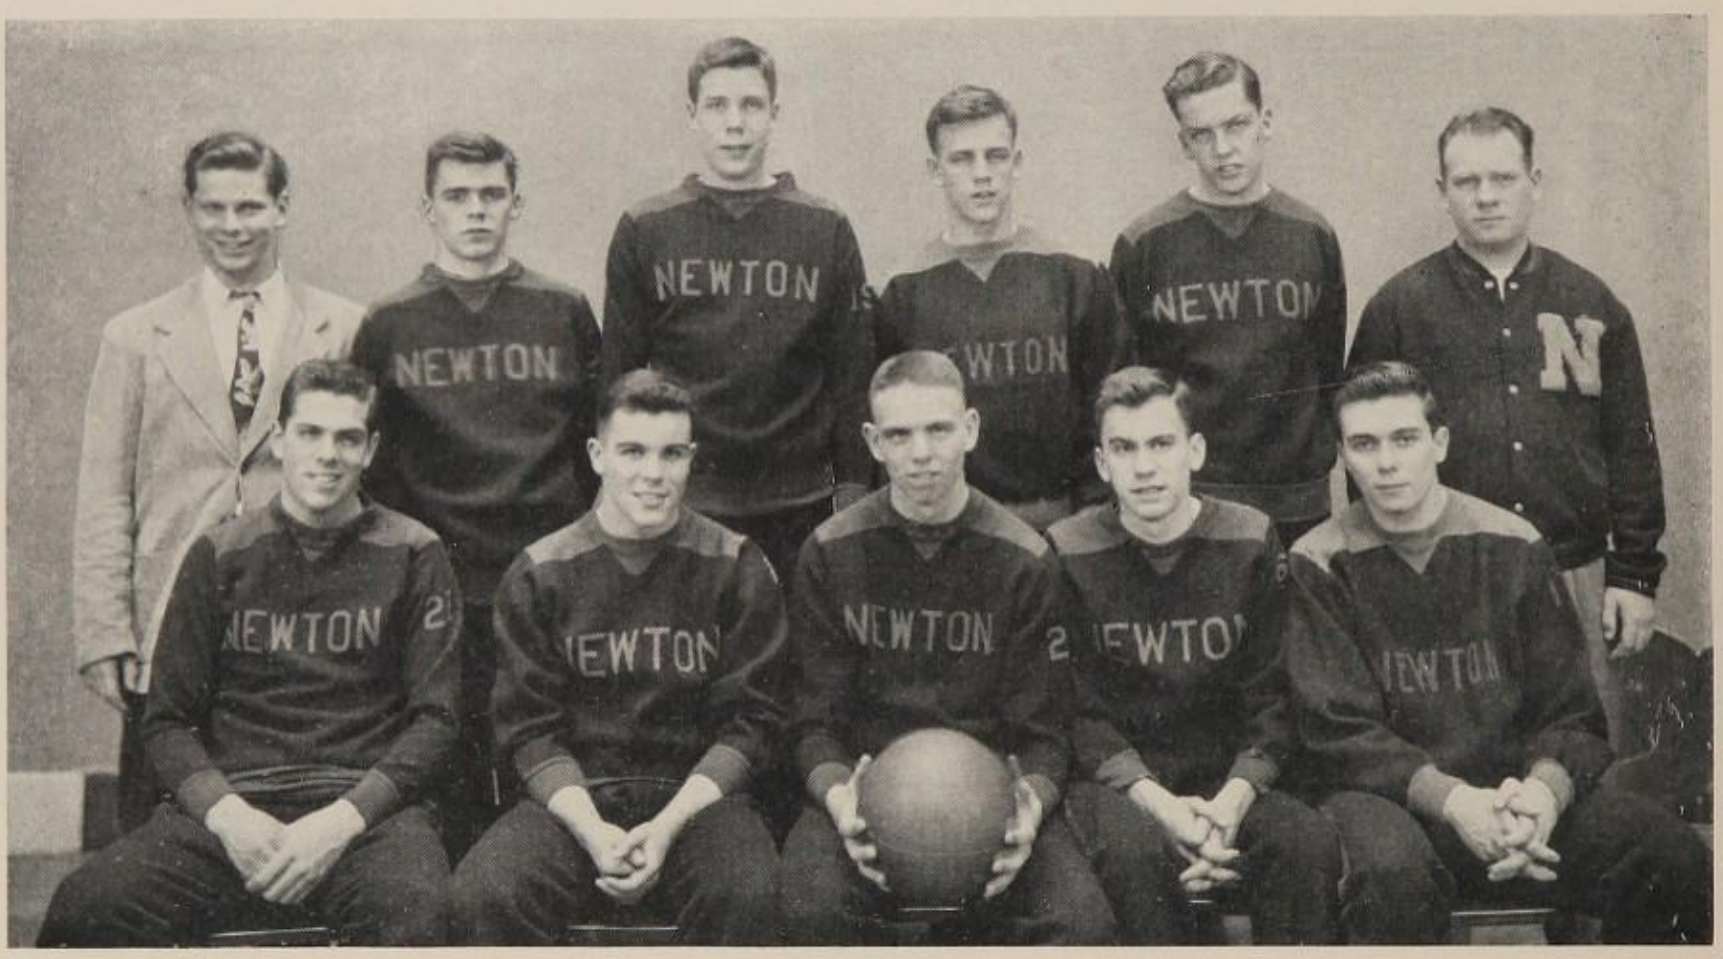
This year Newton's fast, hard-hitting eleven was one of the best squads we've had in years. After a slow start in losing to Arlington, it went on to roll over Belmont and Melrose. Then after losing to Brockton in a bruising battle and tieing a hard fighting Malden team, we smashed Quincy and Medford. A big upset came when the team romped over Haverhill, but our spirits were shattered when a fast rugged Waltham squad ran all over Newton. In the final game an inspired Brookline team edged out Newton, 13–12. Paced by such backs as Wright, Shannon, Coffey, Barisano, and Landry, and such steadfast linemen as Evans, Beatty, Murphy, Peck, Cedurlund, Palmer, and Lovell, the team was considered one of the best in the league with a record of five wins, four losses and one tie.



1950

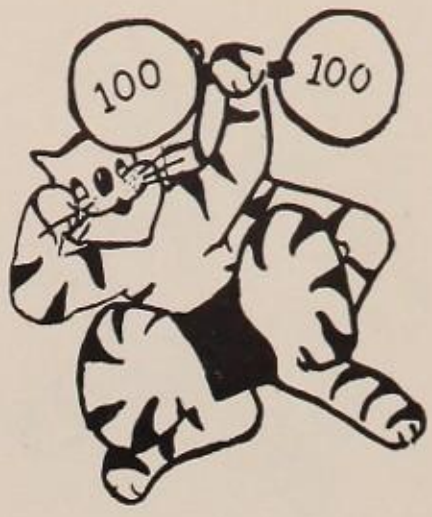
Basketball

Coaches . . . { Mr. Reginald Smith
Mr. Victor E. Knapman



With two returning lettermen, the Tigers has, as expected, a very successful season. They ended up with a record of ten wins and five losses, being squeezed out of first place in the suburban league by a fine Waltham quintet. Mainstays of the team were Ralph Barisano, Buddy McQueeny, Burtie Peck, Dickie Quinlan, Wally Beevers, and Ronnie Jones. The season was highlighted by a close game with Watertown which Newton won 49–47 and a thriller with Brookline which Newton won 35–34. Next year the team will be strengthened by the return of Scotty Price, Brooks Parker, and Billy Warren; since the Intermediate and J.V. teams fared well, an even better season can be expected next year.

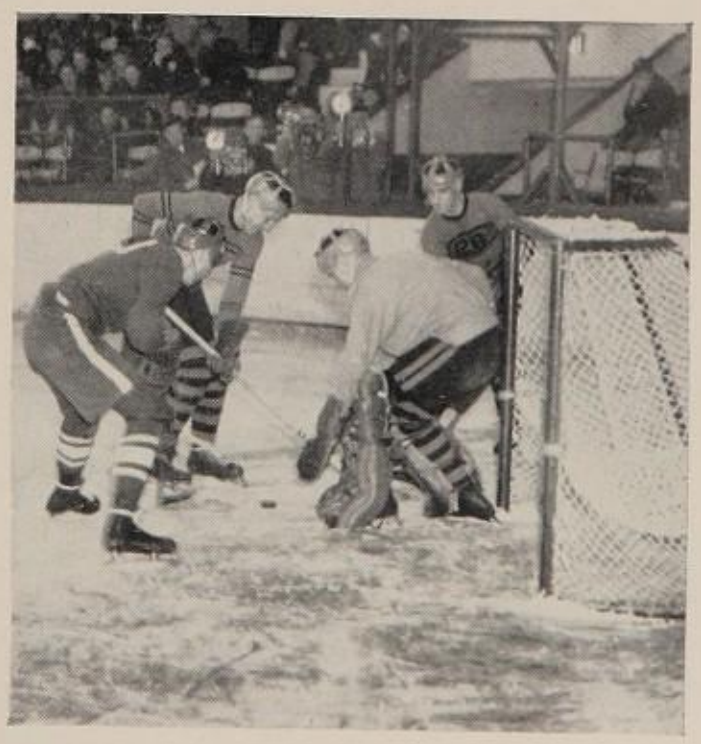
1950

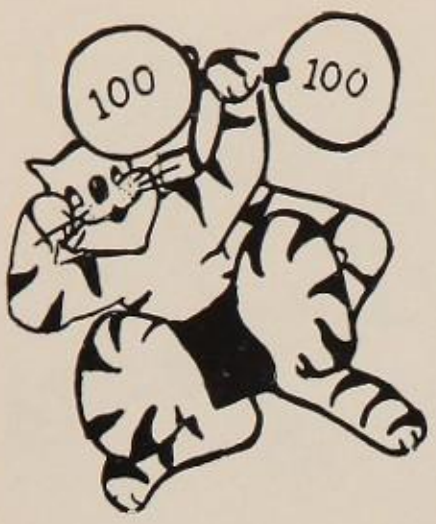


Hockey

Coach . . . . . Mr. John C. Hall

Under the guiding eye of Coach J. C. Hall the pucksters, although handicapped by an extreme lack of practice facilities, skated to a fairly successful season with a record of three wins and seven losses, losing four of the seven by only one goal. Steadied by the apt goal tending of Capt. Frank Feeley, inspired by the swift, flashy play of Duddy Evans, Doug Manchester, Zipper Thompson, and Danny Keefe, and protected by the strong defense of Dick Beatty, Don Haverty and Bill Rogers, the team showed a great deal of fight. The games with Cambridge Latin and Stoneham were the most spectacular, with Newton beating Stoneham 5 to 1, and losing to Cambridge Latin 5–4. The attendance at the games, however, was poor and it is thought that with more student support the team would inevitably be more successful.





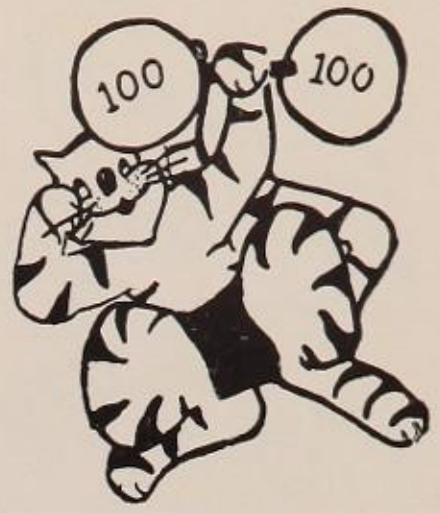
1950

Indoor Track

Coaches . . . { Mr. Charles Consodine
Mr. Lamoine Boyle
Mr. Malcolm Gallagher

With the return of Coach Consodine after a year's absence, the 1949–1950 indoor track team performed capably and maintained Newton's remarkable track record. Led by such dependable track men as Dick Lovell, Don Halloran, Bob Evans, Dodo Shannon, Nick Carder, George Flynn, and Bob Wilber, the team ended with an outstanding record by winning all its dual meets. Included on its schedule were the Northeastern Interscholastic Meet and the State Meet at the Boston Garden. Newton fared badly in the Northeastern Meet, but placed second in the State Meet with 17 points. A large proportion of the team is made up of juniors and sophomores, so next year's team promises to have success.

1950



Outdoor Track

Coaches . . . { Mr. Charles Consodine
Mr. Lamoine Boyle
Mr. Malcolm Gallagher

As in many years gone by, this year's Outdoor Track team had a highly successful season. The 1950 edition of the "Boilermakers" had to preserve its reputation, and Coach Lamoine Boyle had an excellent series of meets. Aided by such consistent point getters as Wilber, Lovell, Bishop, Halloran, Senigo, Flynn, Salt, Evans, Di Giovanni, Shannon, and Gifford, this year's team was no exception to Newton's role as a track power. Next year the team will be bolstered by many returning lettermen and should have a good season.

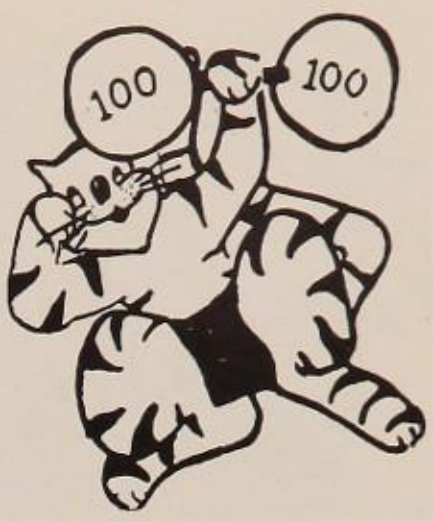
1950

Baseball

Head Coach . . . . Howard Ferguson
Assistant Coach . . . . Harold Hawkes

Although there were only two returning lettermen this year, Rickie Rycroft and John Thomas, Coach Howard Ferguson built up a strong team from last year's Intermediate squad. With John Thomas, Ed Studley, Bob Schlosberg, Ron Rufo, and Fred Sutherland for pitchers, an infield of Al Phinney, Rick Rycroft, Bob Keyho, Barkey Boole, and Dick Sullivan, outfielders Pete Santucci, Fred Kieth, Fred Dauton, Curt Fithian, Burt Peck, and John Geary, and catchers Joe Landry and Dick Beatty, the team had depth, speed and power. It won the opener with Medford, 6–4, and floored Cambridge Latin in the second game, 8–1. With this start the team had its work cut out in order to repeat its 1949 record of 12 wins and 2 losses, thereby winning the Suburban League Championship.

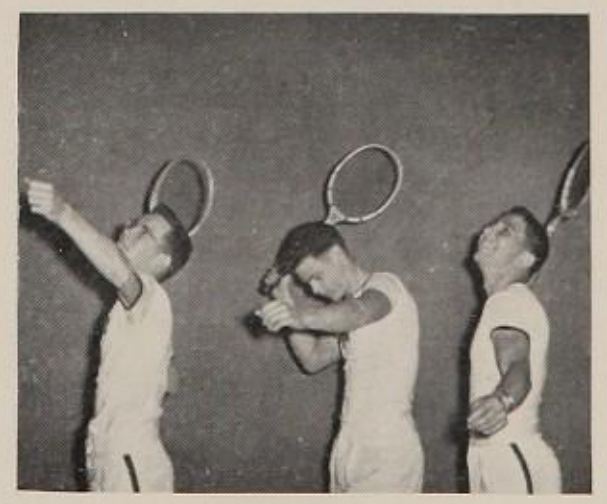
1950

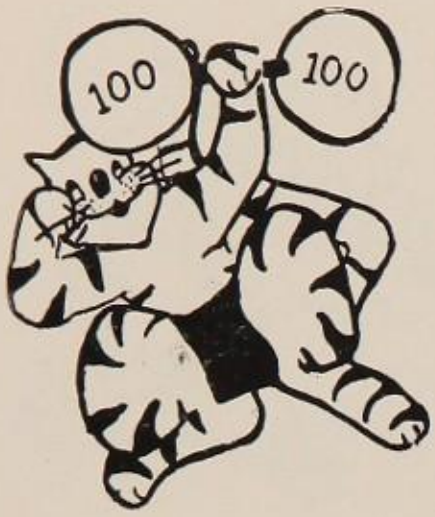


Tennis

Coach . . . . . Mr. Edward Poskitt

Tennis is a favorite sport here in Newton. This year the tennis team is expected to win most of its meets and in all probability it will get into the state finals. Led by such seasoned veterans as Jay Lane, Irwin Webber, Bill Mackey, and Walter Sherbrook the team has great prospects. Last year wasn't much of a season for the team, yet this can be attributed to the fact that it was comprised mostly of juniors whose games weren't too strong. Naturally, much of student interest is lost through competition from outdoor track and baseball, nevertheless, this year's powerful team will arouse much interest among the student body.





1950

Golf

Coach . . . . . Mr. J. C. Hall

This year's golf team promises to be our best in years. Paced by five returning lettermen, including Bob Magee, Bill Rogers, Danny Keefe and Buddy Evans, Newton's golf team will be a close contender for the league title. Last year the team just missed the finals through a contested game. In the past years interest in the golf team was not too noticeable. This year, however, we have a potential championship team which will, without doubt, be closely followed. Mr. J. C. Hall, the coach, has great hopes for this year's team, well stocked as it is with veterans of many tournament loops.

1950

Field Hockey

Coach . . . . . Miss Tyson

Once again Newton's field hockey team came through with flying colors! This year was unusual in that the team completed an undefeated season without being scored against in any of the nine scheduled games. This set a school record, but the figures do not tell the whole story. Excellent team play by both the varsity and the J. V.'s was prevalent in all the games, and a fine spirit and good technique were even more outstanding than the actual scores.

Gals like June Owen, Ginny Hatton, Grace Marchant, Lorraine Nelson, Phyllis Tocci, Shirley Gersumky, Betty Murphy, and Ellen Kattwinkel have proved to themselves and to their opponents this year that a team of Newton High girls with team spirit, cooperation, intelligence, and perseverance can produce a top-notch combination, whether it be hockey, basketball, or softball.

1950

Girls' Basketball

Coach . . . . . Miss Tyson

Two out and one cutting . . . move! Guards, off your feet! Nelson, get that rebound! Who can forget these famous words? Oh . . . my aching back, those new skills and techniques all because of the unlimited dribble! The old timers really had to shake a leg for varsity berths this year with all those new sophomore enthusiasts. What a schedule! — Weston, Woburn, Beaver, and Windsor for the first time, plus all the regulars, Needham, Watertown, and Melrose. The incentive was provided by the motto of all varsity sports, "It isn't whether you win or lose, but how you play the game that counts."

1950

Softball

Coach . . . . . Miss Tyson

Play ball! And that is exactly what the girls at N. H. S. do. The newest of varsity sports attracted a large group of girls who showed plenty of spirit and ability. Some of the old "pros," Ginny Hatton, Ellen Kattwinkel, "Pip" Owen, and Anne St. George were back again, fighting for positions as competition ran high. Constant technique practice along with many good times gave the squad the experience and the incentive for a great year against Melrose, Watertown, Winchester, Needham, and Windsor. Credit for a successful season goes to both the varsity members and all those girls who followed faithfully throughout the season.

1950

Tennis

Coach . . . . . Mrs. McLaughlin

TENNIS, open to all comers! There was a large enthusiastic turnout for both the fall and spring practices. During the spring matches the team gave opposing schools plenty of competition and won its share of games. Everyone who had shown sincere interest in the game was given a chance to play in at least one match, and fifteen girls earned their varsity letters.

There were several outstanding seniors such as Ethel Monzert, Barbara Hills, Joanna Williams, Sharlet Abrams, Virginia Rost, and Maria Shea who sparked this year's team to a great season. A promising delegation from the junior and sophomore classes gives a bright outlook for the '50–'51 season.

1950

Modern Dance

Adviser . . . . . Miss Cronin
Pianist . . . . . Mrs. Kirklighter

By "leaps and bounds" the Modern Dance groups progressed in their study of dance techniques and composition. This year there were four dance classes designated according to the ability of each girl. The Performers, Workshop, and two Apprentice groups were eagerly attended by a larger number of girls than ever before.

The activities of the groups were many and varied. The girls attended a college dance symposium and dance recitals, were hosts to Lasell Junior College and Wellesley College modern dance groups, and participated in the Spring Gym Demonstration in which dancing played a major part. The Modern Dance groups were sponsored by the Orchesis and the Girls' Gym Department.

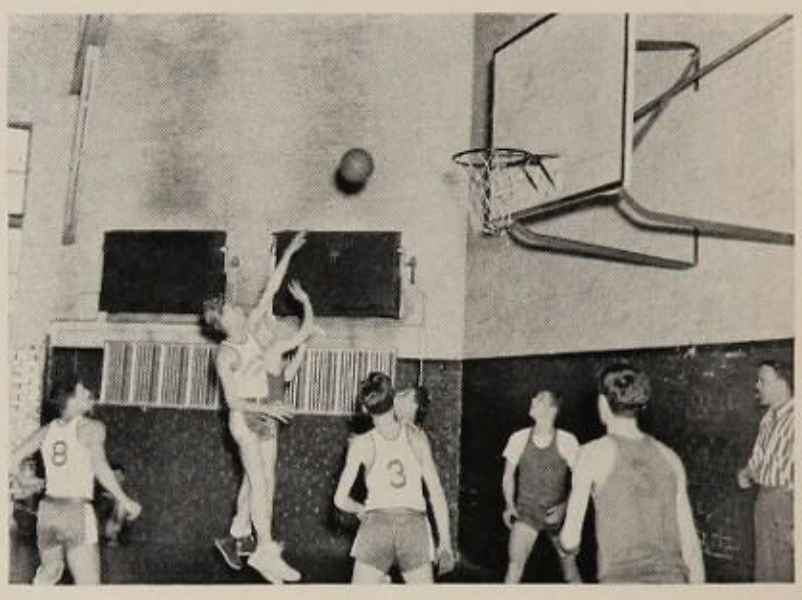
Trade School Basketball

Advisor . . . . . Mr. Ted Dada



Newton Trade School repeated its good record again this season. After playing 12 games they wound up in third place, with high scorers Ed O'Keefe, Bob Valle, and Ken Monohan making this possible. Squad men were Pope, MacDonald, Bitsoli, Frain and Holmes, all of whom saw a great deal of action.

Newton Trade met Waltham at the Boston Garden for their first game. Waltham started with a bang and finally won, 45–32. Of the vocational schools in the league, however, Waltham was the Eastern Massachusetts Vocational League champion with a record of twelve wins and no losses.

Most of the squad will return next year to make the 1951 season as successful as the ones before it.

Prophesy

"All abooooaarrd! !" Peter Adolph was bellowing jazzily as I grabbed my last bag and scrambled onto the Tiger Express for its grand tour of the country in 1960. Right off the bat I spotted fellow travelers Sandra Pratt, Nancy Holmes, and Patty Caswell, and sat down with them. Before long we were interrupted by reporters Jim Roberts and Joan Painton who interviewed us over the air for Will Solimene's "Goodby Travelers" program sponsored by Wilk's Milk. This took but a minute because of the new time limits set by radio executives Robert Rafuse and James Doucette, so we then stopped Louis Azuola as he came through the car selling his wares. We bought a copy of "Fictional Realism," published by the Arthur Wright and Franklin Hunter Co., which featured excellent short stories by Mary Derr, Alberta Bean, and Grace Nathanson; the latest issue of "La Petite Femme," (it was really an advertisement of Marcia Dowd and Kathleen Moran modeling stunning Virginia Hammel gowns taken by the Edmund Poutas Studios that sold us); and finally some Johnson's Orange Crush to ease our parched throats.

By this time we were out of Massachusetts and were rolling by sumptuous Connecticut estates, some whose landscaping bore the characteristics of Betty Barker's skilled hand. Once we caught a glimpse of Phyllis Muldoon's new swimming pool, complete with aqua-experts Marilyn Morse, Pat Hill, Roy Fogelgren, and Francis Southwick.

New York seemed to be celebrating Newton Week when we stopped there. Dave Ferguson's and Ginny Stewart's names blazed on the largest theatre marquee on Broadway where they were leading a star-studded cast consisting of Barbara Boyle, Joan Miller, and Dick Stephens in Tom Kellen's brilliant new smash hit, "Of Mousie and Women." As it was still only about 4:30, I hurried on to pick up some French perfume, by Alice Gaguin, (which I later discovered was imported by the extensive Edward Morrill and Richard Oakes firm), at Richard Jones' new department store. That afternoon I was very fortunate to attend a fashion premier at the Waldorf, which featured breathtaking exclusive creations by Mildred Waite, Virginia Gibson, and Sandra Neitlich, gracefully displayed by Marie Cancellieri, Anna Proai, and Pat Quinn. Betty Fleming, Miriam Riley, Tom Snow, (quite at ease in the midst of this feminine and fabric pulchritude), and Jean Weber were busy with pencils and camera as Marcia Jenks commented on the gowns.

Just before the Tiger Express pulled out of Grand Central, I grabbed a quick look in the Museum of Modern Art, and there in all its glory was Nancy Dillon's most celebrated piece of sculpture, "Hamanitas Moderne," and close by it I discovered a perfectly fascinating glass-topped, solar heated ranch house model by architect Walter Beevers. Then I had to say goodby to the Big City.

Because my former companions were planning to join Frank Lord, Elaine Marks, and Walter Jenkins on the luxurious trans-Atlantic steamer of Donald Kiernan and Sidney Shrier, I soon settled down on the train with Ruth Brown and Jane McInnis.

In Washington, D. C., I had a brief encounter with government agent Carol Saunders who was hot on the trail of some subversive activity, and then I stopped in to visit F. B. I. man and woman Robert Perkins and Beverly Milchen. Suddenly to my surprise the thundering tones of Donald Johansson came to me all the way from the floor of the Senate before he was shouted down by James Lee and Kevin Doyle. Then I glanced at the headlines of Jose McGaffigan's column, with a very clever cartoon by John Mahoney, in the Washington Consternation, (the editors of which, please note, are the successful feminine trio Lucie Adam, Norma Solimene, and Carolyn Whitmore), and learned that Prescott Clark and Milo (no relation) Clark, newly appointed by Secretary of State Prsicilla Chapman, were setting out to deal diplomatically with some unnamed foreign power.

I stopped for a moment in the Tennessee hills to survey the extensive forest and agriculture conservation program directed by Robert Arsenault, Leonard Kent, and Esther Jayne Alden, and then went down through Georgia, where we passed the home for aged and not so aged dogs run by Nancy Cragin, Phyllis Geegan, and Jeanne Kaminski. In Florida we saw mostly pretty girls on the beach, (Fay Kirby, Barbara Smith, Mary Franchi, and Patricia Short, to be more specific), but when I met Larry Tholander and Warren Hayes, I could tell by the gleams in their eyes that they were already scouting for next year's Red Sox rookies. While I am on that subject, have you seen the Braves' new players, Peter Santucci, pitcher; Steve Lombardi, Ricky Rycroft, and John Duffy, who are really putting that ball team right on top, (which ought to make Sally Bodge very happy).

From the deep South we went up the Mississippi to Chicago where I was swept off my feet (figuratively) by the amazing successes of Arthur Browne and Lyman Fogg in the business world, and once I caught a glimpse of salesman David Whitaker in Paul Martin's prosperous furniture store, whose top executives, I noticed, are Paul Schiavone, Joe D'Ercole, and Chester Wallace. Receptionists Marie DeFazio and Mary Quinton, whom I met on their lunch hour, told me that Esther Spera, Phyllis Kiley, Joan Massie, and Marie DiSabato are now top flight secretaries to business men Dominic DiClemente, Charles Speros, and George Koubian. The girls were also all agog over the careers of Ann Santucci, Geraldine Pellegrino, Betty Lee, and Lois O'Laughlin as stenographers and secretaries; and they mentioned the well-established school of accounting now being operated by Bruno Visco and Maurice Polner, which boasts such successful accountants as Paul Curley, Adrienne Quigley, Kenneth Annese, and James Amyouny. (By the way, I did not see a single machine gun in Chicago, due to the remarkable anti-crime campaign of police chiefs Robert Gleason, Peter Percy, and Robert Bishop.)

This assortment of business tycoons seems to show merit of the advice "Go West, Newton Seniors, and get rich," but a little to the east of Chicago in Indiana, I found Bill Rogers, Bob Westermark, Ernest Williamson (in a Ted Asbell-designed car), and Allen Billingsley head over heels in the stock car races. Ed Maquire, Norman MacDonald, Paul Hartwell, and Ed Bannister were watching with their tongues hanging out; and Ed Buonato, ably assisted by Joe Anastasia, James Harmon, and Dick Hudson were right on hand to haul away and repair the car of anyone who did not want his any longer; (Ralph Wright confided to me that he, Dick Landry, and Don Hansen planned to sell the relics at the garage of Dick Yarlott and Peter MacGregor, after mechanics Don Lewis, Ray Knight, and Bill Quinan had done their best to fix them up.)

From Indianapolis we set off for the northlands, Minnesota, to be exact. We went by Nancy Tibbott's popular ski lodge in the hills, with Aldyth Haney, Sylvie Newell, and Emilie Camp sitting on the front steps wistfully waiting for the snow to come. As the train stopped in Madison, Wisconsin, I saw Joe Russo, Henry McQueeny, Lowell Depper, and Joe Landry, coaches at the university, with worried expressions on their faces as they considered next year's athletic teams; but with Frank Feeley's four little goalies in prospect, the hockey situation should not be too bad. They (not the goalies) also told me about the successes of Burton Peck, (whose first and foremost fan, Rona Cohen, cheers from the balcony at every game), Dick Curley, Danny Keefe, Dick Quinlan, and Dick Davis in basketball; and Joe Wright, Dominic Sera, Dick Beatty, and Earle Hopkins in football. Sports announcers Herbert Cohen and Dick Sullivan both agree that many of these players are the backbone of current professional athletics. Deep in the Dakota mountain regions (which are kept tall, deep, and handsome by foresters Chris Cook and John Snow), I caught sight of a camping-fishing-hunting party consisting of Herman Rose, Bill Klosterman, Herbie McGill, Bill Lynn, Frank Gazzola, and Erwin Weber, who at last seemed to have found the enigma of life.

Then the Tiger Express headed for the wide open spaces. Going through the flat wheat and corn belts of Iowa and Kansas, I thought the scenery rather dull, so I tuned in on my little Volante-Mustoe radio and picked up the "Boston Ballroom," which reminded me that Paul Day and David Hill are now chief recording engineers at WBZ. Then to my despair, my little radio broke down, but I looked over my shoulder and saw the smiling face of Ed McFaden, (who is now doing television engineering and repairing with Frank Seamans, Larry Hicks, and Domenic Zambuto), and he got it in working order in no time. At that moment disk jockey Fred Sears put on a platter by Larry Mastromattei and his band, with Janet Budgell on the drums, Bob Stewart on the sax, Dana Cheyne and his trumpet, Bob Avakian on the piano, and vocals by the sentimental duo Jacqueline Brown and Frank Ronan.

By that time the Tiger Express was roaring through the ranch country where we passed Theresa Lopas, Barbara Garofalo, Bob Greenberg, and Milton Allen exercising the splendid horses (kept that way by veterinarian Howard Fairweather) of Shirley Gersumky's fabulous ranch. That reminded me of a letter I had received recently from Lorraine Nelson telling about the terrific basketball team she was playing on with Diane Toppan, Grace Wardwell, Phyllis Tocci, and Joan Pattison, coached by the well-known athletress Gracie Marchant; and also informing me of the physical education teaching positions of Betty Murphy, June Owen, and Ginny Hatton, which made me think that these girls knew just where they were going in high school.

Then we hit the rich oil section of Oklahoma where Steven Burke is making his fortune, thanks to the engineering accomplishments of William Patten, Ronald Jones, Gordon Morse, and Rodney Warner. Geologists Bob Lund and Robert Woodberry are also making great strides in developing new oil regions in Utah, and in this project they are ably assisted by David Palmer, Stanley Burg, and Lawrence Glavin. As the train approached the Indian reservation of Big Chief Conn-on-the-Cob, we met traveling horse doctor Curt Livingston, and I presumed by the glow on his face that the tribe's horses were much better off now for the advances made in medicine by Regina Hurley, Jacqueline Lucier, and Ronald Cosentino.

In a little town in Colorado we were stopped by another train coming toward us on the same track. Its engineer, Warren Mosher, and ours, Bob Eastman, got out to look things over, and then I noticed that the train was carrying an orchestra on tour: Nancy Goff and Lavinia Mayo, two of the country's foremost women pianists; Virginia Benson and Daniel Abbott, (a dentist in leisure hours), holding down the string section; Tom Jess, French horn; Frances Hume and her celestial cello; Barbara Brady, the eminent conductress; and John Nickel, who arranges all Elliot Kaplan's brilliant compositions. I also observed during our brief stay in the town that Doctors John Craig and Willis Goodman, assisted by rural nurses Barbara Harding, Norma Lombardi, and Pauline Zorolow, were busy patching up the inhabitants. They told me that they could hardly wait until Peter Vachon, Ralph Corsetti, and Ernest Wildman, contractors, would build them a permanent hospital, at which time their staff could be increased by such humanitarians as nurses Terry Martin, Shirley Lovely, and Muriel Clark; dental workers Nancy Hoskins, Barbara Cunningham, and Sandra Harris; and Doctors Nason Lightman and David Fitzpatrick. Meanwhile mechanical engineers Donald Chapman, Wakefield Perkins, and Ralph Cornish were engaged in building supplementary tracks to enable the trains to pass each other, and Harold Weisman, Edward Murphy, and Karl Hergenrather, who are just chemical engineers, stood around and made helpful comments.

Soon we were in Reno, and I stopped in at Dick Gibson's fabulous "Squawk Club" where chef Harry McDonald's creation, the "Frozen Havana," and bartender Alexander Avtges' concoctions are well known attractions. Other features are Guy Spezzano's orchestra with Bonnie Summers on the piano, Dean Farnham and his tremendous trombone, Ronald Housepian on the traps, Vincent Melideo, and Bob Vespa; vocalists Jean Macomber, Virginia Frascatore, and Carl Brooks; and M. C. Eugene Schultz. The floor show consisted of several talented dancers; Ethel Monzert, Carolyn Buonato, Eleanor Lombardi, Marie Casieri, Rose Antonellis, Norma Scarry, and Shirley Andrews.

Just before we reached California we passed Joe Inferrera driving his truck with Dick Lovell, Everett Mitchell, Harold Lowenstein, Bob Long, and Frank Downes sitting in back, in the middle of Death Valley. They looked pretty hot, so I suggested to my traveling companions David Young and Gustave Umbsen that they figure out some sort of chemical refrigeration attachment practical for trans-continental open trucks. At that Donald Halloran and Tony Mooradian said that they would be glad to invent a method of reading a book by sleeping on it so that such travelers as mentioned above might accomplish something on their tiresome journeys. I also think I saw Barbara Wellman, Marjorie Snell, and Clara Rosenfield taking colored pictures of Stefan Vogel's newest hybrid cactus; Bruce Stewart examining the new fallen meteors; and Stephen Mandell and Walter Sherbrooke observing buzzards, (no relation to the Bay in Massachusetts where Franseen Bartlett and Dick Payne are accomplished skippers).

At last — Hollywood! where astronomers Clement Joyal and Benjamin Muckenhaupt are still seeing stars. I was thrilled but not surprised to meet Ginny MacGinnis, Helen Kermath, and Jane Gorgone, elegantly coiffed by Dorothy DeSantis, just leaving the MGM Studios, where Peter Scichilone is really making out with make-up, and Theresa Salvucci and Dorothy Pellegrini are both noted for excellent historical costuming.

That night at the grand premier of a new film directed by Judith Stein and starring Mary Lou O'Neil and Alice Campbell, the big attractions in the audience were dancers Nancilee Fuller wearing a sumptuous Ralph Borgeson corsage, Esther Fitton, the lovely fabric of whose gown was designed by Jeanne Goler, and Nancy Bruce whose frock bore the exquisite embroidery of Carole Hebb. Also prominent were Joanna Williams and Elaine Boudrot, who are both heading for the Met; Marcia Egan, "Miss Career Girl of 1960;" and Robert Morse, the nation's most eligible bachelor. Marjorie Stern was right on hand for her fashion write-ups, part of which may have been used in Shirley Hobart's or Jim Buckley's gossip columns in the Hollywood Stardust, edited by Wanda Roman and Richard Kamp. I also noticed that Barbara Hare, Mary Lou Gretzenberg, and Carol Peterson were making quick sketches of the styles and outstanding people there. The unusual lighting effects in the lobby constructed by electricians Michael Papa, Wayne Blake, and Edward Tyman gave everyone a most attractive rosy glow, and outside, the superhighpowered spotlight display designed and operated by Thomas Brigham, Charles Caswell, and Kenneth Barber lit up the sky as far away as Boise, Idaho.

The film itself was a thrill, too; John Patriaca's photography did full justice to the glamourous sets of Sally Fawcett, Jeanne Esty, Judy Parsons, and Barbara Ferguson, (one room featured a mural done by no less than three famous artists: Evelyn Rafferty, Albert Amadei, and Philip Shave). In one scene taken in Scotland, Robert Rogers, (brandishing an ancient sword from the William Graves collection), and his Flingerettes, Katherine Butler, Elaine Digregorio, Palma Forte, and Mary Graceffa, danced a stimulating Highland Fling, while Anita Morse sang a touching Scotch ballad. The background music, (much of it performed on the piano by Lorraine Arcese), was composed by Phyllis Schneider.

After the show I stopped in at Jeanne Lefebvre's luxurious home — she has several water colors by Nancy Rhodes, Shela Roberts, June Gelfond, and Charles Hancock, in a sitting room decorated by Ruth Dokton and Dorene Slotnick — where the great philosophers Danny Tritter, Ina Friedman, David Kaye, and Mimi Cutting were deeply engrossed in "life," "realism," and "escapism." Anne Bronstein was in a corner chuckling over a new murder mystery by Jean Lipman dedicated to Eugene Monosson; and though Anderson Vaughan and Fred Ferre were staring gloomily into their tall empty glasses as they reflected on the convalescent condition of Helen Brooks, they felt reassured when they remembered that she was in the hands of surgeons John Wolbert and Sally Bondi. I also learned from this intellectual company that Kenneth Morse was being psychoanalyzed by Hart Peterson and Barbara O'Connell as the result of nearly being hit by Georgette Thierry's dark blue Dodge convertible (perhaps she was a little distracted by Janet Wilson, Peggy Bostwick, and Jack Aldinger in the back seat) as she tried to avoid crashing into Tommy Seamans' Model A four-door Ford on the corner of Hollywood and Vine before Officer John Kelly straightened things out. However, the whole company brightened up at the mention of Annsie Sieve's new anthology of poetry and Elsa Marston's latest musical comedy, "Our Parts Were Hung to Dry."

The next morning on my way to inspect the recently rebuilt airport, I passed George O'Dowd's celebrated school of the dance which boasts such attractive examples as Ruth Scammon, Mimi Goodlett, Jane Barisano, and Claire English; and F. W. Woolworth's where Mary Tramontozza still assures service with a million dollar smile. I reached the airport just in time to wave goodby to Lilibet Childs, Eloise Tong, James Wallace, Russell Rogers, and James Jenkins who were headed for the Orient in the latest jet-propelled Bob Bean — John Hitchcock model. It was evident from their gleeful grins that co-pilots Bob Gifford and Francis Orr meant to leave June Noll, Jean Valletti, Jane Smith, and Mary Perry in Siberia to practice their ice skating. Then as I was listening to reporter Bob Menelly interview Reverends Edward Tulis and John Losch who were planning to convert any interested natives in the South Seas, a supersonic Navy plane piloted by Jim Caffrey, Charles Mullen, and Donald Barley landed to let off Phil Jepsen, and then the flyers breathlessly told how they had picked him up tired and hungry in the middle of the Pacific — he had intended to swim the English Channel but somehow lost his sense of direction. However, air line hostesses Jean Sloan, Virginia Henley, and Joanne Wallace got him back on his feet in no time, ready to walk home with Rose Marie Barisano.

In Southern California, after watching Bill Bradbury and Bob Wilbar practicing on the cinders for the Olympics, and heavyweight champion Phil Welch playfully poking Bob Magee, Anthony Marini, and William Stierli as they tried to concentrate on the Walker Golf Cup, I stopped at the tennis courts. There Ginny Rost and Maria Shea were exchanging heated volleys with Ellen Kattwinkel and Charlotte Abrams before setting off for the Longwood doubles matches, and in the next court Bill Mackey and Jay Lane were rallying, preparatory to the Davis Cup team try-outs, as Frank Savell watched.

In Washington state the Tiger Express stopped for a short time in Seattle where an unsound tooth is unknown due to the advances in dentistry made by Marie Piotti, Elaine Cohen, and Joan Berger, who in turn thank Shirley Geddes, Richard Little and Dick Millard for their painstaking medical, physical, and chemical research. Gretchen Maxted has discovered several new species of bacteria, and with this knowledge plus the above, Dr. Daniel Rakov and physio-therapists Ann James, Joan Potter, and Sarah Lichenstein are making sure there is not an unsound body in the whole Northwest.

On the return trip across the country we stopped at Detroit. Slums are practically non-existent in this great city because of the wonderful social service work directed by Charlotte Kennedy, Phyllis Rice, and Eleanor Seliber; I read in the paper that Mary Ellen Gaffney, Audrey Shriber, and Barbara McAloon with their advanced practical child psychology assure Detroit a future population of well-rounded, useful citizens.

Now at last the Tiger Express is back in Boston, where Lee Marston is making a name for herself in occupational therapy, as is Margaret Spiller in physio-therapy. On my journey several people were anxious to know who of their class were still in Newton High; I could tell them that Carol

Nee and June Boulter are keeping the home economics department right on its toes, Richard Dohanian has turned out more than one Stravinsky in his musical composition course, (while James Roth is head of music in all Massachusetts schools), and Marilyn Greene with the help of English teacher Elaine DeWolf guarantees ninety-nine out of one hundred seniors some form of higher education. Now I can add that the high school staff is supplemented by Sylvia Tailby, Dorothy Wansker, and Richarb Shea, while the children of most Newton graduates who did not go on to careers are under the expert care and guidance of Patty Andrews, Carol Macdonald, Marcia Silver, Elinor Walstein, and Ruth Casten. In the cafeteria, which is bright as high noon (even C lunch) thanks to electricians Allen Cronin and Anthony Veckery, the pupils need only the vitamin tablets served by Jean Macleod and Nancy Viscatt to keep them going until 2:30.

I am writing this all from my chalet in the Swiss Alps where the air is kept constantly melodious by the yodelings of Joan Ellsworth, Barbara Lernet, Audrey Boudrot, Herbert Singer, and Dick Barton. I wish you all were here.

Dying Breath

Know all men by these presents that we, the Senior class, of Newton High School, Newton, in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, being in good health and of a sound and disposing mind and memory do make and declare this to be our DYING BREATH, hereby revoking any and all previous Wills and Codicils heretofore made by us.

We then devise and bequeath our estate as follows:

FIRST We hereby give and bequeath to posterity the following.

A new building in the middle of Elm Road composed of the fourth floor of Building I and the third floors of Buildings Two and Three.

Larger score cards at the football games to completely cover the wet seats.

Prehistoric paintings on the tunnel walls.

Music, Music, Music in the cafeteria five days a week.

Alice-in-Wonderland reducing tablets to make it possible to drink in comfort from Building Three fountains (excluding all "Old Facefulls").

A new rosewood spinet in room 1305.

A tunnel to the Drill Shed for January gym classes.

New murals in the Social Room (this will keep the art department occupied and happy).

An introduction to the Chinese alphabet to enable the advanced math classes to letter completely their geometric figures.

Many years more of hilarious Senior Plays, expertly presented Drama Club plays, and colossal original musicals, (and orchids to all teachers and pupils who keep these productions the pride of the school).

A twenty page write-up and colored pictures to boot in Life and the Congressional Record.

Places for at least one hundred on an exchange trip to New Orleans, Hollywood, or Rio de Janeiro.

SECOND We bequeath in particular to

Any interested boys' varsities — a book of hints and recommendations by the 1949–50 girls athletic teams.

Both tennis teams, — dark glasses to offset the glare of the aluminum lines on the new tennis courts, (after the ice melts).

Sewing classes — a 1950 dressmaker's model (to be shared with the football team).

Pre-chef classes — wives who cannot cook.

Physics classes — earmuffs to muffle the noise of exploding flasks.

Radio classes and Mr. Lasker's music theory classes — three years of Boston World Series.

Business curricula — shorter and even shorter shorthand.

The band — Arrow collars and another pair of cymbals.

The Newtonite — with Building Four (see above), they are all set.

The secretaries in the main office and others — an automaton to answer all stupid questions.

Future will writers — hundreds of brilliant ideas.

In witness whereof, we have hereunto set our hand and seal to this our DYING BREATH at Newton, Massachusetts, on this tenth day of June in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and fifty.
